BONE DENSITOMETRY STUDY

CLINICAL HISTORY:

Assessment.

FINDINGS:

The left femoral neck bone mineral density measurement is 0.633g/cm² with T-score of -2.0 and a Z-score of -1.8.

The lumbar spine (L1-L4) bone mineral density measurement is 0.941g/cm² with T-score of -1.0 and a Z-score of -1.3.

10 year fracture risk:

Major osteoporotic fracture 1.8%.

Hip fracture 0.4%.

OPINION:

The left femoral neck, lumbar spine bone mineral density measurements are consistent with osteopaenia with associated increased fracture risks.
